

“Give me your pastries and puddings!
Give me your chocolate and cake!
For I am the Rat of the Highway,
The Highway – the Highway –
Yes I am the Rat of the Highway,
and whatever I want I take.”

“Give me your buns and your biscuits!
Give me your chocolate éclairs!
For I am the Rat of the Highway,
The Highway – the Highway –
Yes, I am the Rat of the Highway,
and the Rat Thief never shares.”

“Give me your treats and snacks!
Give me your deep pan pizza!
For I am the Rat of the Highway,
The Highway - the Highway -
Yes I am the Rat of the Highway,
and I am as hungry as a cheetah.”

Remember that the last words in the second and last line need to rhyme.