

RECOUNT

SESSION 3

What will we do in today's lesson?

Retell with the recount map

Shared writing

Independent writing

MY TOOLKIT

MY TOOLKIT

first

angry

I

me

SHARED WRITING

SHARED WRITING

Dear Diary,

I have had the most extraordinary day. You will not believe what happened to me.

First, I waited excitedly outside the tomb door, just waiting for the door to open. When it did, I felt like a real explorer. Quickly, I walked into the tomb, ready to face whatever came. The door slammed shut behind me but I had my bright lamp to guide me. Cautiously, I went up some stairs and searched for the way to the treasure. I couldn't believe my eyes. There were two different paths in front of me and I didn't know which way I was meant to go. A loud noise came from behind me and I felt a cold breeze across my face. I darted down the closest corridor to get away.

SHARED WRITING

SHARED WRITING

I found myself in a huge room, covered in empty doorways. Getting hold of my book, I looked for clues and there it was. I needed to go to the statue.

SHARED WRITING

SHARED WRITING

I found myself in a huge room, covered in empty doorways. Getting hold of my book, I looked for clues and there it was. I needed to go to the statue.

It was so frustrating! I didn't know how to get the statue to move. Then, as quick as a flash, it slapped me. Unbelievable!

SHARED WRITING

SHARED WRITING

I found myself in a huge room, covered in empty doorways. Getting hold of my book, I looked for clues and there it was. I needed to go to the statue.

It was so frustrating! I didn't know how to get the statue to move. Then, as quick as a flash, it slapped me. Unbelievable!

But it helped me to see the coin slot. I grabbed my knife and wriggled it around until finally the statue went up. I saw the tunnel and felt very excited.

SHARED WRITING

SHARED WRITING

I found myself in a huge room, covered in empty doorways. Getting hold of my book, I looked for clues and there it was. I needed to go to the statue. It was so frustrating! I didn't know how to get the statue to move. Then, as quick as a flash, it slapped me. Unbelievable! But it helped me to see the coin slot. I grabbed my knife and wriggled it around until finally the statue went up. I saw the tunnel and was excited.

Crouching down, I crawled through surrounded by darkness. My teeth chattered and my skin tingled.

SHARED WRITING

SHARED WRITING

I found myself in a huge room, covered in empty doorways. Getting hold of my book, I looked for clues and there it was. I needed to go to the statue. It was so frustrating! I didn't know how to get the statue to move. Then, as quick as a flash, it slapped me. Unbelievable! But it helped me to see the coin slot. I grabbed my knife and wriggled it around until finally the statue went up. I saw the tunnel and was excited. Crouching down, I crawled through surrounded by darkness. My teeth chattered and my skin tingled. After what felt like hours, I came out into a large corridor and I noticed a light switch. How strange! I flicked it on and off so many times. I loved it.

SHARED WRITING

SHARED WRITING

I found myself in a huge room, covered in empty doorways. Getting hold of my book, I looked for clues and there it was. I needed to go to the statue. It was so frustrating! I didn't know how to get the statue to move. Then, as quick as a flash, it slapped me. Unbelievable! But it helped me to see the coin slot. I grabbed my knife and wriggled it around until finally the statue went up. I saw the tunnel and was excited. Crouching down, I crawled through surrounded by darkness. My teeth chattered and my skin tingled. After what felt like hours, I came out into a large corridor and I noticed a light switch. How strange! I flicked it on and off so many time. I loved it.

Then, I saw it. The treasure I had been searching for. I ran over and grabbed hold of it.

SHARED WRITING

SHARED WRITING

I found myself in a huge room, covered in empty doorways. Getting hold of my book, I looked for clues and there it was. I needed to go to the statue. It was so frustrating! I didn't know how to get the statue to move. Then, as quick as a flash, it slapped me. Unbelievable! But it helped me to see the coin slot. I grabbed my knife and wriggled it around until finally the statue went up. I saw the tunnel and was excited. Crouching down, I crawled through surrounded by darkness. My teeth chattered and my skin tingled. After what felt like hours, I came out into a large corridor and I noticed a light switch. How strange! I flicked it on and off so many times. I loved it. Then, I saw it. The treasure I had been searching for. I ran over and grabbed hold of it.

As I admired it, I bumped into a handle. Hmm, what could that be? Well, believe it or not, when I turned the handle a door opened. Inside was so much golden treasure.

SHARED WRITING

SHARED WRITING

I found myself in a huge room, covered in empty doorways. Getting hold of my book, I looked for clues and there it was. I needed to go to the statue. It was so frustrating! I didn't know how to get the statue to move. Then, as quick as a flash, it slapped me. Unbelievable! But it helped me to see the coin slot. I grabbed my knife and wriggled it around until finally the statue went up. I saw the tunnel and was excited. Crouching down, I crawled through surrounded by darkness. My teeth chattered and my skin tingled. After what felt like hours, I came out into a large corridor and I noticed a light switch. How strange! I flicked it on and off so many times. I loved it. Then, I saw it. The treasure I had been searching for. I ran over and grabbed hold of it. As I admired it, I bumped into a handle. Hmm, what could that be? Well, believe it or not, when I turned the handle a door opened. Inside was so much golden treasure.

As soon as I let the handle go, the door slammed shut. Annoyed, I turned the handle again and stretched as far as I could to reach the new treasure.

SHARED WRITING

GREAT WORK EVERYONE!

