

It was a long summer. The war was nearly over.
It was our last chance to play with our friends in the countryside. The radio keeps saying that we will be going home soon. When we get home, Nick and I will be happy to see mother and father. The time we have spent here will be something we always remember.

It was a long summer. The war was nearly over.
It was our last chance to play with our friends in
the countryside. The radio keeps saying that we will be going home soon. When we get home, Nick and I will be happy to see mother and father. The time we have spent here will be something we always
remember.

It was a long summer. The war was nearly over.
It was our last chance to play with our friends in
the countryside. The radio keeps saying that we will be going home soon. When we get home, Nick and I will be happy to see mother and father. The time we have spent here will be something we always
remember.