Dear Parent/Carer,

As part of our topic next half term, our writing will be based around reptiles. We will be studying Steve Backshall (from Deadly 60). In order to support this, we have invited Animal Encounters into school on Wednesday 6th November 2019.

Animal Encounters will be bringing in a selection of reptiles for the children to see and touch, in a safe and secure way. This may include animals such as: a corn snake, royal python, bearded dragon, blue tongue skink, tortoise, hissing cockroach, giant millipede and giant land snails. We hope this will give the children information to start them off and engage them for their writing this half term.

As this experience is facilitated by experts, there is a cost for the day of around £3.40 for each child. The school will subsidise this amount so we are asking for a £2 contribution towards this day, which can also be paid online. We are sure the children will have a great time.

If you have any questions regarding this opportunity, please do not hesitate to contact your child's teacher.

Kind Regards,

Zoe O'Shea
