Dear Diary,

I have had the most extraordinary day. You will not believe what happened to me.

First, I waited excitedly outside the tomb door, just waiting for the door to open. When it did, I felt like a real explorer. Quickly, I walked into the tomb, ready to face whatever came. The door slammed shut behind me but I had my bright lamp to guide me. Cautiously, I went up some stairs and searched for the way to the treasure. I couldn't believe my eyes. There were two different paths in front of me and I didn't know which way I was meant to go.

A loud noise came from behind me and I felt a cold breeze across my face. I darted down the closest corridor to get away.

I found myself in a huge room, covered in empty doorways. Getting hold of my book, I looked for clues and there it was. I needed to go to the statue. It was so frustrating! I didn't know how to get the statue to move. Then, as quick as a flash, it slapped me. Unbelievable! But it helped me to see the coin slot. I grabbed my knife and wriggled it around until finally the statue went up. I saw the tunnel and was excited. Crouching down, I crawled through surrounded by darkness. My teeth chattered and my skin tingled. After what felt like hours, I came out into a large corridor and I noticed a light switch. How strange! I flicked it on and off so many times. I loved it. Then, I saw it. The treasure I had been searching for. I ran over and grabbed hold of it. As I admired it, I bumped into a handle. Hmm, what could that be? Well, believe it or not, when I turned the handle a door opened. Inside was so much golden treasure. As soon as I let the handle go, the door slammed shut. Annoyed, I turned the handle again and stretched as far as I could to reach the new treasure.

Next, hair stood up on the back of my neck and I turned around. I could not believe what I was seeing. There was a real life mummy taking my treasure!

I snatched my treasure and ran. Unfortunately, I ran straight into an even bigger mummy. It was not my day! Luckily, I pushed it over and got away.

The scratching behind me told me that the baby mummy was following me but I knew I was faster.

BANG! Huge blocks fell from the ceiling and I jumped like a ninja over some and slid under others.

Then, I accidentally tripped and fell, dropping my treasure. That annoying mummy had hold of my treasure again!

Angrily, I jumped up and snatched it back. I ran! Suddenly, I heard a buzzing sound. What was it? I was so scared I couldn't look behind me.

But whatever the buzzing creatures were they ate my top...my favourite top. I was so annoyed!
