

Copy the paragraph into your book, adding the capital letters and full stops that are missing.

like sardines, we were packed on the decks of the boats we sat in silence in our metal cans each of us too lost in our own private thoughts and emotions to speak i remember too well the feeling of anxiety that blanketed us like a dark fog we knew what was coming we knew the horrors that awaited us on the beach what we did not know was how long it would take